CHAPTER TWOPrinciples Regarding Education and Instruction*Academic Year

ARTICLE 5- (1) Education and instruction at the University are organized on a semester basis.

(2) An academic year consists of two semesters—fall and spring—each lasting sixteen weeks. Each semester includes fourteen weeks of classes and two weeks for end-of-semester exams.

(3) Summer school consists of seven weeks of classes and one week of exams. Taking courses during this period is at the student's discretion, and the time spent does not count toward the duration of study. The procedures and principles regarding education and instruction in summer school are determined by the Senate.

(4) Courses to be offered during the fall and spring semesters and summer school are approved by the University Administrative Board upon the recommendation of the relevant department chairs. If deemed appropriate by the Senate, certain courses in undergraduate programs may be offered through distance learning. Course groups, capacities, and course requirements are determined by the relevant department chairs. Course schedules are organized by the EFPDO and announced by the Office of Academic Affairs (ÖİM).

(5) All dates and deadlines related to registration, courses, exams, and similar activities during an academic year are specified in the academic calendar approved by the Senate.

Language of Instruction

ARTICLE 6- (1) Except for courses required to be taught in Turkish in the University's undergraduate programs, the language of instruction is English. Courses required to be taught in another language are determined by the Senate upon the recommendation of the relevant faculty.

(2) The provisions of the relevant guidelines shall apply to all matters concerning the assessment of English language proficiency and the English preparatory program for students who have been placed in, admitted to, or transferred to undergraduate programs through inter-institutional lateral transfer.

Duration of Education and Instruction

ARTICLE 7- (1) The duration of the English preparatory program is one year, with a maximum duration of two years; the duration of undergraduate programs is four years, with a maximum duration of seven years.

(2) The following periods are included in the standard and maximum duration of undergraduate programs:

- a) All semesters spent enrolled or not enrolled in the undergraduate program, starting from the date of initial enrollment.
- b) Time spent in exchange programs.

(3) The following periods are not included in the standard and maximum duration of undergraduate programs:

- a) Time spent in the English preparatory program.
- b) Time spent in summer school.
- c) Time spent on leave of absence.

Undergraduate Programs and Enrollment Quotas

ARTICLE 8- (1) Undergraduate programs are prepared by the relevant departments. An undergraduate program at the University is established by a decision of the Higher Education Council, following a proposal from the relevant faculty, a Senate decision, and approval by the Board of Trustees. The same process is followed to change the name of an existing program.

(2) The enrollment quotas for scholarship and non-scholarship students to be admitted to undergraduate programs in the following academic year are determined upon the recommendation of the relevant committee, a decision by the Senate, and approval by the Board of Trustees. These quotas become final after approval by the Presidency of the Higher Education Council.

(3) The competencies expected of students graduating from a degree program, as well as the curricula comprising the courses, laboratories, internships, and similar activities required for graduation—along with any changes made to these programs—are evaluated by the relevant committees. The principles governing any adjustments to be made are prepared by the relevant departments, submitted to the PEK with the approval of the relevant committee, and finalized by a decision of the Senate.

(4) In programs requiring an internship, the principles and guidelines for the internship are determined by the Senate.

Double Major and Minor Programs

ARTICLE 9- (1) Students enrolled in an undergraduate program at the University may simultaneously enroll in another undergraduate program at the University through the dual major program. Students who complete this program are awarded a second bachelor's degree in addition to the degree from their primary undergraduate program.

(2) Students enrolled in an undergraduate program at the University may, provided they meet the conditions determined by the Senate, enroll in a certain number of courses in another undergraduate program through a minor program. A minor program is not an undergraduate degree program. Students who complete this program are awarded a certificate.

(3) Matters related to double major and minor programs are determined by the Senate in accordance with the provisions of the Regulation on Transfer Between Associate and Bachelor's Degree Programs, Double Majors, Minor Programs, and Inter-Institutional Credit Transfer in Higher Education Institutions," published in the Official Gazette dated April 24, 2010, No. 27561.

Exchange Programs

ARTICLE 10- (1) The University may implement student exchange programs with higher education institutions located within or outside the country. Under these programs, students may be sent to other higher education institutions for a maximum of two semesters, or students may be accepted from other higher education institutions.

(2) The credit and equivalency procedures for courses taken by students under the exchange program are decided by the relevant administrative board following the approval of the academic advisors and coordinators of both universities.

(3) Students may not participate in exchange programs during their final semester before graduation.

(4) The principles governing exchange programs are determined by the Senate in accordance with the provisions of the Regulation on the Principles for Transfer Between Associate and Bachelor's Degree Programs, Double Majors, Minors, and Inter-Institutional Credit Transfer in Higher Education Institutions.

CHAPTER THREE

Admission and Registration Principles

Admission of New Students

ARTICLE 11—(1) Admission to undergraduate programs is based on the results of examinations administered by the Presidency of the Center for Measurement, Selection, and Placement.

(2) The Senate establishes the principles governing applications, admission, and registration for international student quotas.

(3) The principles regarding applications, admission, and registration for lateral transfers from within or outside the University are determined by the Senate in accordance with the provisions of the Regulation on the Principles for Lateral Transfers, Double Majors, Minors, and Inter-Institutional Credit Transfers Between Associate and Undergraduate Programs in Higher Education Institutions.

(4) In order for students to be exempted from courses in which they have successfully completed at a higher education program at another institution, they must submit a written request to the relevant department chair no later than the first week of the academic year in which they will begin their undergraduate studies at the University. The courses for which exemption exams will be administered, the necessary conditions for exemption, and the implementation procedures are determined by the Senate upon the recommendation of the relevant committee.

Initial Registration at the University

ARTICLE 12- (1) Initial registration procedures for students enrolling in undergraduate programs are conducted on the dates specified in the academic calendar. Applicants who fail to complete the registration process within the specified timeframe forfeit their right to enroll at the University.

(2) The documents required for enrollment are announced by the University.

(3) If false, altered, or misleading statements or documents are detected, students will not be enrolled at the University. For those who have already enrolled, their enrollment will be canceled regardless of the semester they are in. All documents, , including any diplomas, will be deemed invalid, and legal proceedings will be initiated against them in accordance with the relevant legislation. Those in this situation are considered not to have acquired student status and are not entitled to any rights related to student status.

(4) The enrollment procedures for applicants whose affiliation with any higher education institution has been terminated due to expulsion will be conducted in accordance with relevant legislation.

(5) Students who have completed the registration process are issued a student ID card.

Semester Course Registration

ARTICLE 13- (1) Students are required to renew their registration at the beginning of each semester on the dates announced in the academic calendar.

(2) Students who do not register by the specified dates may renew their registration during the add/drop period.

(3) For semester registration to be finalized, students must fulfill their tuition payment obligations, complete their course registration, and obtain registration approval from their academic advisor.

(4) Students are required to register for all required courses and the specified number of elective courses for that semester in the undergraduate program in which they are enrolled during the first semester.

(5) Students who have completed their semester registration must obtain approval from their academic advisor again to add, drop, or change course sections during the add/drop period specified in the academic calendar.

(6) Students who have not completed their semester registration by the end of the add/drop period will be placed on inactive status.

(7) Students who, due to force majeure, are unable to register for courses within the specified timeframe but wish to do so later must submit a request to the relevant dean's office within two weeks of the end of the add/drop period, stating their reason. The request of students who have fulfilled their financial obligations is decided upon by the relevant administrative board, and their registration for courses is processed by the Office of Student Affairs (ÖİM).

(8) Students who do not renew their registration during the designated registration period cannot exercise their student rights during the period they remain unregistered. Provided they remain within their maximum enrollment period, these students may renew their registration again in subsequent semesters on the dates announced in the academic calendar.

(9) A student's enrollment is not terminated due to failure to pay tuition or renew registration within the maximum time limits. However, if tuition is not paid and registration is not renewed for four consecutive years, the student's enrollment may be terminated by decision of the University Administrative Board and with the approval of the Higher Education Council.

(10) When registering for courses or adding or dropping courses, students may enroll in the courses they wish to take, provided they consider the prerequisites, curriculum, and credit values of those courses and remain within the limits specified below:

a) Required courses (excluding summer school) for which an F, FX, or W grade was received must be retaken when the course is first offered again. During course registration, students must first enroll in the courses they are required to retake. If the course to be retaken is an elective, the student may, with the advisor's approval, take other elective courses within the framework of the undergraduate program and within the same course group (free electives, common core, and program electives) in lieu of those courses.

b) Students may retake courses in which they previously received a DD or DC grade within the two semesters following the course, provided they do so to raise their grade point average.

c) In a repeated course, the most recent letter grade earned is valid, regardless of the previous grade.

(11) Students cannot register for courses for which prerequisites have not been met. However, a student who has received a DD or DC grade in a prerequisite course once is considered to have met the prerequisite even if they later retake the course to improve their grade and receive an F.

(12) Students may change their course groups (elective, common core, and program elective) with the approval of their academic advisor.

Special Students

ARTICLE 14- (1) A special student is a student enrolled at a higher education institution who wishes to experience a different higher education environment, culture, or learning outcomes, or who, due to special circumstances, health, or similar reasons, is granted the opportunity to continue their education at a different higher education institution while remaining enrolled at their home university.

(2) Students enrolled in an undergraduate program where the language of instruction is Turkish must meet the English language proficiency requirements of the relevant program in which they intend to take courses in order to enroll as special students.

(3) The courses that special students may take are determined by the relevant administrative board, following consultation with the department chair.

(4) Special students are not awarded a diploma. Only upon request are they issued a document

(5) Special students are not eligible for scholarships, and no tuition discounts are applied. They pay the tuition fees set by the university tuition fees set by the university.

(6) Students taking courses under special student status are not entitled to student rights.

(7) For the duration of the term in which they are enrolled, special students are required to comply with the academic and administrative rules applicable to University students.

(8) University students may take courses as special students at other higher education institutions that offer instruction in English and are designated by the Senate under the conditions specified below:

a) An equivalent course to the one to be taken is not offered at the University during the relevant semester.

b) The student must apply to the relevant department chair, and there must be a decision by the relevant administrative board authorizing the course to be taken from the other higher education institution.

(9) A maximum of two courses may be taken from other higher education institutions during the course of study, and the courses taken are counted toward the course load for the relevant semester. The final letter grade for the relevant course is determined by the relevant administrative board. Students who cannot provide documentation of the grades for the courses they took as special students will receive a final letter grade of F.

CHAPTER FOUR

Education and Instruction

Curriculum and Course Descriptions

ARTICLE 15- (1) The curriculum consists of required and elective courses, as well as laboratory work, practical training, projects, internships, and similar activities.

(2) Required and elective courses are defined in the curriculum by their number and type. Required courses are those that students must take; elective courses are those that students may choose from specific course groups.

(3) The name, code, content, credit value, category, and prerequisites of courses, as well as any changes to these characteristics, are decided by the Senate upon the recommendation of the relevant department, the relevant administrative board, and the PEK.

(4) A course's credit value is calculated as the sum of the total weekly theoretical class hours for that course and half of the total weekly hours for laboratory, practical, workshop, studio, internship, and similar activities.

(5) Prerequisites and co-requisites may be established for a course. These conditions are as follows:

a) To enroll in a prerequisite course, a student must have previously earned a grade of DD or P in that prerequisite course at least once.

b) To enroll in a course with a co-requisite, the co-requisite course must have been taken and successfully completed previously, or it must be taken concurrently in the same semester.

c) In addition to the prerequisites for taking a course, the relevant department chair may also establish additional requirements. c) If a student is exempt from a course that is a prerequisite or concurrent requirement for any other course, the prerequisite or concurrent requirement is considered to have been met.

Course and Credit Load

ARTICLE 16—(1) The average number of credits and the standard course load required per semester for each program are determined by the University's relevant councils and the Senate.

(2) For each course, the contribution of exams, assignments, practical work, and other activities for which students are responsible to the final grade, as well as the requirements for participating in exams, are determined by the instructor at the beginning of the semester and explained to students in the course syllabus.

(3) For certain courses, due to their nature, a final exam may not be administered with the approval of the relevant administrative board.

(4) During their first semester in the undergraduate program, students must follow the predetermined course schedule and may not increase their course load.

(5) If a student's cumulative GPA is 2.00 or higher, their course load may be reduced or increased in accordance with the provisions specified in the Senate decision, subject to the advisor's approval. Students with a cumulative GPA below 2.00 may not exceed the standard course load.

Course Credit Transfer in Undergraduate Programs

ARTICLE 17- (1) The process of counting courses taken by a student at any institution of higher education toward the program in which they are enrolled, as well as the definition of the curriculum, is carried out by the relevant administrative board upon the recommendation of the relevant department chair.

(2) During the course transfer process, it is determined which courses with grades of CC or higher, P, or their equivalents will be transferred to the program.

(3) Based on the number of courses credited to the program, the student's accepted semesters or years are calculated and deducted from the student's maximum duration of study.

(4) Course credit transfer procedures are carried out by the student during the course registration period of the relevant semester. For students who are unable to complete the credit transfer process within this period, the procedures may be carried out by decision of the relevant administrative board until the course withdrawal date specified in the academic calendar, in accordance with their justifications.

(5) Other provisions regarding course credit transfer procedures are determined by the Senate.

Courses Exceeding the Curriculum

ARTICLE 18- (1) Courses in excess of the curriculum are those not included in the student's registered bachelor's, double major, or minor programs and are taken under NC (non-credit) status.

(2) The status of these courses is designated as NC (non-credit) during the course registration process at the beginning of the semester, and this status cannot be changed.

(3) The credits and grades for these courses are not included in the semester GPA or the cumulative GPA. However, the letter grade received is shown on the student's transcript.

(4) These courses count toward the student's course load for the relevant semester.

Withdrawal from a Course

ARTICLE 19- (1) Withdrawal from courses in which students are enrolled must be completed within the timeframe specified in the academic calendar and requires the advisor's approval.

(2) A student who withdraws from a course is assigned a "W" grade for that course.

(3) If a student withdraws from a required course in the curriculum, they must retake the required course.

(4) If a course for which a DD or DC letter grade was received is retaken to improve the grade and the student withdraws from the course, the previously earned grade remains valid and is included in the grade point average. In this case, the student is not required to retake the course unless necessary.

(5) A student may withdraw from a maximum of two courses in a single semester and a maximum of six courses during the entire period of study.

(6) Students may withdraw from courses in the NC category.

(7) Students enrolled in the first semester of their first year may not withdraw from courses taken during that semester.

(8) Withdrawal is not permitted from required courses for which an "F" or "FX" grade was received when those courses are retaken.

(9) Students may not withdraw from courses from which they have previously withdrawn.

(10) No tuition refund will be issued to a student who withdraws from a course.

CHAPTER FIVE

Exams, Evaluation, and Graduation

Attendance and Exams

ARTICLE 20- (1) Students are required to take the exams for the courses, practicals, labs, projects, and internships in which they are enrolled, as well as to complete other academic work required by these courses.

(2) The instructor of the relevant course explains all course requirements in the course syllabus at the beginning of the semester.

(3) Students' attendance in the course is monitored by the course instructor.

(4) At the end of each semester, final exams are administered on the dates specified in the academic calendar.

(5) In addition to the end-of-semester exam, at least one midterm exam is administered for each course during the semester.

(6) Courses that do not require a final exam are determined by the relevant committees.

(7) The instructor may evaluate assignments, projects, portfolios, and similar work in lieu of a midterm and/or final exam.

(8) Instructors evaluate the results of exams, assignments, and similar work conducted during the semester within one week at the latest and announce them while respecting the principle of confidentiality regarding students' personal information.

(9) Final exam dates are announced no later than four weeks before the start of the exam period in the fall and spring semesters, and no later than two weeks before the start of the exam period during summer school.

(10) End-of-semester exam results are announced on the date specified in the academic calendar.

(11) The announced exam dates may be changed upon a reasoned proposal from the relevant department chair, provided the following conditions are met:

a) The newly determined exam date must fall within the end-of-semester exam period.

b) The end-of-semester exam period must not have begun by the date the new exam is announced.

(12) When necessary, classes and exams may also be held after regular business hours on weekdays and/or on Saturdays and Sundays.

(13) Exam rules are applied in accordance with the principles established by the Senate.

(14) The situations of students unable to take end-of-semester exams for health reasons are evaluated and decided upon in accordance with the principles established by the Senate. Excuses for students unable to take exams for reasons other than health are handled within the scope of the relevant implementation guidelines.

(15) The relevant faculty member submits all documentation related to the student's course attendance and course evaluation (syllabus, exam papers, assignments, projects, minutes of presentations, if any, and similar materials) to the relevant dean's office no later than two weeks after the announcement of letter grades. The submitted documents are retained by the relevant dean's office for a period of two years.

Evaluation and Letter Grades

ARTICLE 21- (1) Students are assigned a letter grade at the end of each semester for every course in which they are enrolled. In assigning letter grades, the following are taken into account: midterm exams, final exams, performance on in-semester assignments, and attendance in lectures and practical sessions.

a) The weighting factors and point values for letter grades are specified below:

Grade	Weight	Points
AA	4.00	90–100
BA	3.50	85–89
BB	3.00	80–84
CB	2.50	75–79
CC	2.00	70–74
DC	1.50	60–69
DD	1.00	50–59
F	0.00	0–49 /Failed
FX	0.00	Failed due to absences
P	–	Pass (awarded in non-credit courses)

(2) Explanations regarding end-of-semester letter grades are provided below:

a) DC and DD letter grades indicate that the course has been conditionally completed. For students with a cumulative GPA of at least 2.00 at the time of graduation, these grades do not prevent graduation.

b) The FX letter grade is treated as an F in the calculation of grade point averages. An FX letter grade is assigned to a student who fails to qualify for the end-of-semester exam due to failure to attend the theoretical and practical hours specified in the course syllabus or to fulfill the requirements specified in the syllabus, or who does not participate in any of the midterm or end-of-semester exams.

c) The P (Pass) letter grade is awarded to students who successfully complete non-credit courses.

Other Letters Used in Addition to Letter Grades

ARTICLE 22- (1) Other letters used in addition to letter grades are listed below:

a) NC (Non-credit): Indicates courses taken in excess of the undergraduate program requirements that are not included in the grade calculation.

b) I (Incomplete): This grade is awarded to students who, due to a valid excuse, were unable to meet the conditions specified by the instructor at the beginning of the semester—such as exams, assignments, or projects—and whose excuse is deemed valid. The deficiency in question must be resolved within a maximum of ten days. This period may be extended until the date announced in the academic calendar by a decision of the relevant administrative board. If the “I” grade is not converted to a letter grade by the end of these periods, it will be converted to an “F” grade.

c) R (Repeat): Indicates courses that are being repeated.

c) W (Withdraw): Indicates that the student withdrew from the course during the withdrawal periods specified in the academic calendar.

d) IP (In Progress): Awarded to students who are successfully continuing in non-credit courses.

e) L (Leave): Indicates that the student is on leave.

Announcement of Letter Grades and Correction of Material Errors

ARTICLE 23- (1) End-of-semester letter grades are issued by the course instructors on the dates specified in the academic calendar.

(2) Grades are made available through the student portal on the dates specified in the academic calendar.

(3) Corrections of material errors are carried out as follows:

a) If the correction is in the student’s favor, it is made by a decision of the relevant administrative board upon the course instructor’s application to the dean’s office to which the course is affiliated.

b) If the correction is to the student’s disadvantage, it is submitted to the University Administrative Board by the relevant administrative board for a decision.

(4) Material errors must be corrected no later than the start of registration for the following semester. Dates related to the correction of material errors are specified in the academic calendar.

Appeals of Exam Results

ARTICLE 24- (1) Within one week of the announcement of exam results, a student may request that the exam paper be re-evaluated by applying to the course instructor.

(2) If the course instructor’s evaluation of the appeal does not result in a change to the student’s grade, the student may apply to the relevant dean’s office to have the exam paper reviewed. If the relevant administrative board deems this appeal appropriate, a three-member committee is formed. This committee evaluates the exam results and reaches a decision; the outcome of the evaluation is communicated to the student in writing through the relevant dean’s office.

(3) If the decision results in a change to the exam grade, the necessary correction is made to the student’s grade.

Grade Averages and Academic Standing

ARTICLE 25- (1) Students’ academic standing is determined at the end of each semester by calculating their semester/cumulative grade point averages.

(2) The total credits a student earns in a course are calculated by multiplying the course’s credit value by the student’s end-of-semester letter grade.

(3) The semester grade point average (YNO-SPA) is calculated by dividing the total credits earned by the student in the courses taken that semester by the total credit-hour value of those courses.

(4) The cumulative grade point average (CGPA) is calculated based on the final letter grades earned in courses taken since the student's enrollment in the program.

(5) Semester and cumulative grade point averages are calculated to two decimal places. When rounding, if the third decimal place is less than five, the second decimal place remains unchanged; if it is five or greater, the second decimal place is increased by one.

(6) Students with a cumulative GPA of 2.00 or higher are considered to be in good standing.

(7) Students with a cumulative GPA below 2.00 are considered probationary students.

(8) Excess course loads and required course retakes for probationary students are regulated according to the principles established by the Senate.

(9) Except for the first two semesters, students whose cumulative GPA is below 2.00 at the end of any semester and who meet the conditions specified below based on their completed credits (DD or higher) are designated as "probationary-satisfactory":

a) Those with 50 or fewer completed credits and a cumulative GPA of at least 1.60.

b) Students with 51–100 completed credits and a cumulative GPA of at least 1.70.

c) Students with 101 or more completed credits and a cumulative GPA of at least 1.80.

(10) Students who do not meet the "probationary-qualified" criteria are classified as "probationary-unqualified." To exit probationary status, the cumulative GPA must be at least 2.00. These students may not retake courses they have never taken before or courses they took for the first time and then withdrew from. They must retake courses in which they received an F, FX, DD, or DC grade. If there are no courses with an F, FX, DD, or DC grade to retake and their course load allows, they may take courses they have not previously taken or courses for which they received a W grade.

(11) Honor and High Honor status are awarded in two ways—at the end of the relevant semester and upon graduation—provided the student's cumulative GPA is 2.00 or higher and the student has not received any disciplinary penalties:

a) At the end of each semester, students enrolled in the relevant undergraduate program with a normal or heavy course load must have a semester GPA between 3.00 and 3.49 to qualify for honor status, and 3.50 or higher to qualify for high honor status.

b) At the time of graduation, students who have completed their studies in no more than nine semesters (excluding the preparatory program) must have a cumulative GPA of 3.00–3.49 to qualify for honors status, and 3.50 or higher to qualify for high honors status.

Graduation Requirements

ARTICLE 26- (1) To graduate from a bachelor's degree program, the following conditions must be met:

a) Students must earn a grade of at least DD or P in all courses included in the curriculum.

b) The cumulative GPA must be at least 2.00.

c) At least half of the total credits in the curriculum must have been earned at the University.

c) All obligations to the University (tuition, library fees, dormitory fees, and similar charges) must have been fulfilled.

d) A decision by the relevant administrative board confirming that the graduation requirements have been met.

(2) Graduation dates are as follows:

a) The graduation date is the date on which letter grades for the relevant semester or summer session are announced in the academic calendar. For students graduating as a result of a clerical error, a grade of "I," or a make-up exam grade, the graduation date is the date on which the final letter grade is finalized.

b) For students wishing to leave the University with an associate's degree, the graduation date is the date of the relevant Board of Administration decision.

Right to a Make-up Exam During the Graduation Process

ARTICLE 27- (1) The conditions for exercising the right to a makeup exam are specified below:

a) Students who cannot graduate because they received an "F" grade (an "FX" is not accepted) in two courses, despite having a cumulative GPA of at least 2.00, are granted the right to a make-up exam. This right to a make-up exam is granted to a student only once. Students who fail to earn their graduation eligibility as a result of this right must continue their studies in the following semester by paying tuition and registering for courses.

b) Students who cannot graduate because they received an F grade (an FX grade is not accepted) in at most one course, despite having a GPA of at least 2.00, are granted an unlimited number of retake opportunities.

c) Students who have passed all their courses but fail to meet the 2.00 cumulative GPA requirement for graduation are granted an unlimited number of retake opportunities for any courses they previously took and received a DD or DC grade in.

(2) Students may be given the opportunity to complete an academic assignment in lieu of a make-up exam, subject to the instructor's approval and a decision by the relevant academic committee.

(3) Make-up exam dates are specified in the academic calendar.

(4) Students who meet the requirements for a make-up exam must submit a written request to the dean's office where they are enrolled on the dates announced in the academic calendar after the end-of-semester letter grades have been posted. After reviewing the student's situation, the relevant dean's office notifies the student and the relevant faculty members of the courses for which make-up exams will be administered. If the course is not affiliated with the dean's office where the student is enrolled, that dean's office notifies the faculty to which the course belongs, and that faculty arranges for the exam to be administered.

(5) No make-up exams are administered for courses whose final letter grades are based on work conducted throughout the semester (such as design courses, studio courses, laboratory courses, internships, and similar activities). The courses falling under this category are determined and announced by the relevant committees.

- (6) Excuses will not be accepted for students who are unable to take the make-up exam.
- (7) The make-up exam grade replaces the end-of-semester letter grade.
- (8) Students who are unable to graduate as a result of this provision must continue their studies in the following semester by paying tuition and registering for courses.

Procedures to Be Followed at the End of the Maximum Period of Study ARTICLE 28- (1) For students who fail to meet the graduation requirements at the end of the maximum period of study, the relevant provisions of Law No. 2547 shall apply.

Diplomas, Certificates, and Documents

ARTICLE 29- (1) The diplomas, certificates, and various documents issued to students and graduates, along with the conditions for their issuance, are as follows:

- a) A bachelor's degree is awarded to students who meet the graduation requirements of the bachelor's program.
- b) A dual-major bachelor's degree is awarded to students who meet the graduation requirements of the dual-major bachelor's program after they have met the graduation requirements of their primary major program.
- c) An associate's degree is awarded to students who withdraw from the University before completing the bachelor's program and who meet the requirements for an associate's degree. Students must submit an application and complete the necessary withdrawal procedures. To be eligible for an associate's degree, students must earn a grade of at least "DD" or "P" in all courses from the first four semesters of the bachelor's program in which they are enrolled, and the cumulative GPA for these courses must be at least 2.00.
- c) Diploma Supplement: A document issued in addition to the bachelor's degree, which aids in the international recognition of academic and professional qualifications.
- d) A Certificate of Graduation is a document issued to students who graduate with a degree from a bachelor's program. The criteria for ranking graduates are determined by the Senate.
- e) Minor Certificate: This is awarded to students who successfully complete a minor program after fulfilling the graduation requirements of their major undergraduate program. This is a certificate and does not serve as a substitute for any program's diploma.
- f) A transcript is a document showing the courses students have taken during their studies, the credits for those courses, their letter grades, semester grade point averages, cumulative grade point averages, and academic standing.
- g) A student ID is a document that indicates the student's enrollment status at the University.

(2) The duties of the academic advisor are as follows:

- a) To monitor the student's academic program and guide the student in selecting courses to be taken each semester.
- b) To approve the student's course registration for the semester.
- c) To provide guidance to the student.
- c) To guide the student on adapting to university life, professional development, and career matters.

Discipline

ARTICLE 31- (1) Disciplinary matters and procedures concerning students are conducted in accordance with the provisions of Article 54 of Law No. 2547.

Scholarships

ARTICLE 32—(1) Matters related to scholarships are determined in accordance with the provisions of Additional Article 9 of Law No. 2547, other relevant legislation, and the principles established by the Senate.

Medical Reports

ARTICLE 33- (1) The principles regarding medical reports obtained by students are determined by the Senate.

Tuition

ARTICLE 34—(1) Education and instruction at the University are subject to tuition fees. Tuition fees are determined each year upon the recommendation of the Senate and with the approval of the Board of Trustees. Tuition for credits taken in excess of those specified in the curriculum for the relevant semester and the required credit load shall be paid based on the full tuition rate per credit announced at the beginning of each academic year, regardless of the student's scholarship amount.

(2) Students who fail to pay the annual tuition and education fees by the announced deadlines will not be registered, will not have their registration renewed, and will not be granted leave of absence. Such students are not entitled to student rights.

Leave of Absence

ARTICLE 35- (1) Students may apply for a leave of absence for health, military service, education at higher education institutions within or outside the country, financial or family reasons, or other unforeseen and compelling reasons deemed appropriate by the University Administrative Board, provided they submit supporting documentation.

(2) Students may be granted a leave of absence for a maximum of four semesters, provided that each leave does not exceed two semesters, as determined by the relevant administrative board. Leaves of absence exceeding four semesters or those applied for late require the recommendation of the relevant administrative board and the decision of the University Administrative Board.

(3) Students wishing to be granted a leave of absence must submit their application electronically, along with documents substantiating their reason, no later than the last business day of the fourth week following the start of classes for the relevant semester. However, if the reason for the leave arises after this date (such as sudden illness, accident, or similar circumstances), there is no time limit for submitting the application.

(4) Students who wish to return to their studies before the end of the leave period must submit a written request to the relevant dean's office before course registration begins. The request is decided upon by the relevant administrative board.

(5) For a student's leave request to be processed, the student must pay half of the tuition fee due for the semester during which the leave is granted and must have no outstanding debts to the University. Tuition fees paid by students for semesters during which they were on leave are not credited toward tuition fees for subsequent semesters. Students who are granted leave by decision of the University Administrative Board after the deadline for leave applications must pay the full tuition fee for the semester in question.

(6) Students who are in the process of graduating but are unable to take the courses required for graduation during the relevant semester—because those courses are not offered at the University or at another higher education institution recognized by the University—must apply to the relevant dean's office for a semester leave of absence. The application is decided upon by the relevant administrative board. When the student registers for the courses required for graduation, they are required to pay half of the tuition fee for the semester in which they were on leave of absence, and the remaining half in the following semester.

Withdrawal from Registration

ARTICLE 36- (1) Students wishing to withdraw from the university must complete the withdrawal procedures electronically.

(2) Students wishing to withdraw from the University must complete the withdrawal process and fulfill their financial obligations (tuition, dormitory fees, library fines, and similar charges) in order to retrieve their personal documents.

(3) Students who withdraw from their program of study before earning an associate's degree or meeting graduation requirements lose all their student rights at the University.

(4) Students who apply to withdraw from the University before classes begin will not be required to pay the fees due for the relevant semester. For applications submitted by the last business day of the fourth week following the start of classes in the fall and spring semesters, or by the last business day of the second week of summer school, students will be refunded half of the tuition fees they are required to pay. No tuition refund will be issued to students who apply to withdraw from the University after this date, except for those whose transfer to another institution of higher education has been accepted.
